Starting with new challenges

Sector: Northwest of Guayaquil

JUCONI, since its inception, has faced the challenge of facilitating momentous changes in families that are in a vulnerable situation. It would be impossible not to recognize the support received from cooperating organizations and national and international institutions that believe in our work and that still continues to accompany us.

We closed 2013 with the support of individuals and businesses that sponsor our work for child laborers and their families. Each one of them is an example of the real commitment it takes to be socially responsible.

We intervene with a team of committed professionals who are dedicated to working with children and their families, as well as the community.

Our goals remain, and now local support and collaboration is one of our challenges.

The transparency of our management strengthens our purpose of including institutions that identify with our work and want to share with us the satisfaction of receiving testimonies from families who accepted our accompaniment, and today are proud of their process of change.

This was a year of learning and of pleasant emotions

We started a 2014, with new projects and great expectations. This year new families enter the Child Workers program, our community commitment has new intervention strategies that will strengthen the activities that look for the restitution of rights and the decrease of the practices of violence affecting families and the community.

Also, our Training Center will continue transferring the methodological experience in the shelters of the Ministry of Economic and Social Inclusion, strengthening the work of attention of the professionals in charge of those institutions.

Thanks to all who believe in JUCONI, and to those who joined with the firm intention of providing opportunities, care and services to those who need it most.

An unconditional support...

On December 16, we received a visit from Marina García, representative of the area of fundraising for JUCONI Mexico, who shared with us their experiences and recommendations for the acquisition of resources.

Marina spent a week of work in a workshop that looked to expand strategies and creative ideas to strengthen the programs and campaigns developed locally.

The JUCONI Ecuador team is especially grateful for the generosity and dedication of Marina by relying on the development of our plan and forecast for this year and give us new motivation to achieve the purposes of our institution.

JUCONI thanks to Mexico!

Christmas for JUCONI...

The permanent support and accompaniment received from companies and individuals who have joined our cause is an example for a society that needs references of implementation of the changes that we hope to see in our country.

Thank you very much Agripac, Banco del Pacifico, Colegio Americano, Corporación El Rosado, Jorli Group, Nueva Acropolis, Riverpark, Terpel, Transoceanica and all the solidary hearts that helped and gave this Christmas joy to children and their families.

JUCONI is proud to have you.

Thank you with all our heart!

Enjoying a wonderfull Camp day

On Saturday December 14, about 250 children and adolescents, accompanied by the team of counselors for JUCONI, had an appointment at the Hacienda "El Rodeo" where our host, Mr Colin Armstrong, President of AGRIpac, a company that supports the management of the Foundation since its inception, received us with the same warmth and spontaneity of always, inviting them to have fun with games, dances, horseback riding and other activities.

A day dedicated to children of JUCONI.

Transoceánica with the children...

Last December 7, in their offices, Transoceánica received the children and adolescents sponsored by the staff of the company with a christmas breakfast.

A morning with a lot of energy, games and special details was held for all those present, sponsors and children shared beautiful moments that they will keep in their hearts.

Celebrating with the Colegio Americano

With a beautiful reception the committee of parents, students and staff of the Primary School of the Colegio Americano received the little ones along with their families, with a chocolate Christmas and many competitions and surprises.

With much detail and special preparation children enjoyed a show prepared by the students of the school.

Thank you all for making the day a beautiful moment to remember.

Christmas carols with Banco del Pacífico

The girls and boys of the Child Worker program of JUCONI, were invited to the christmas celebration held by the staff of Banco del Pacífico, with days of peace and solidarity among the present.

Two days of posadas were held, accompanied by a nice repertoire of Christmas carols, nativity scenes and warm treatment for all those who are part of the institution.

All the children were entertained and participated in the program prepared by the different areas in charge of the event.

Thanks to all who are part of the Bank for making Christmas a time of contemplation, peace and joy.

Christmas with the families of the NT Program

The families being the fundamental basis for the success of the program, JUCONI with the unconditional contribution of private companies, was able to share a fun and enjoyable Christmas lunch with the parents of the NT program.

For this event we had the participation of a mime, the animation of the counselors of JUCO-

NI for competitions and the accompaniment of volunteers of the organization Nueva Acropolis and JorliGroup who were responsible so that each family received a special detail for the holidays.

Thank you for this invaluable support from Importadora El Rosado, Nueva Acropolis, Jorli-Group and all the people who support our work. The parents received a basket of products and gifts for the children under the age of 2 years who accompany their parents on this day.

Yo, Mi, Nuestro Ecuador... Art in the Community

The Art Club ended the second half of the year with the exhibition: "Yo, Mi, Nuestro Ecuador..." that framed each one of the subjects worked on by the children: the self-portrait, their identification with their community, regions of their country and flora and fauna, in a beautiful composition valuing the environmental consciousness.

Johnny, Tracey-Lee and

Blanca were responsible for the Project, using art to share and explore the children's history with the public.

The beautiful exhibition was open to the public for five days, and visitors were allowed to live the experience of this work during the screening of a video containing the best moments of the work with children.

New volunteer of CMAP for JUCONI

Welcome to Kim Alexander, as a volunteer on the CMAP project in JUCONI.

Kim is facilitator of art workshops, whose current practice is designed to strengthen the therapeutic processes from participation within the artistic community work.

Among her projects Kim has made Animation - 2D hand-drawn, commercial projects for dissemination on the internet and independent short films, as well as surreal images and narrative, exploring issues of home and community, while taking as a reference, myths, fairy tales and dream.

Her experience in workshops and development of community projects, her skill in the teaching, collaboration and social interest is what attracted Kim to the project in Ecuador.

Thanks Kim for walking along with the children ...
